To Whom It May Concern:

I have been advised by my Financial Professional that I can assume the ownership of my spouse's contract. By opting for the Spousal Continuation Option available under the deceased's Contract, I can withdraw amounts from the Contract free of Contingent Withdrawal Charges.

I have decided not to elect the Spousal Continuation Option and request that the death proceeds be rolled over to the Contract/Certificate above. I am aware that the death proceeds will become subject to new Contingent Withdrawal Charges. I am also aware that the assets will remain invested in my spouse's contract until my new contract is issued. The amount of the death benefit will be calculated to equal the account value (as of the date that my new contract is issued). This means that the death benefit proceeds could vary up or down, based on investment performance, until my new contract is issued.

For Traditional IRA only: I understand that if my deceased spouse was past his or her Required Beginning Date for taking lifetime Required Minimum Distribution (RMD) payments and he or she did not take the final lifetime payment for the calendar year which contains his or her death, then I must take that last lifetime payment before I effect this rollover. I understand that I can satisfy this requirement by taking the RMD amount from any other traditional IRA previously owned by my deceased spouse.

[] By checking this box, I am requesting Equitable to distribute the last lifetime RMD amount from the certificate/contract to me.

Sincerely,

X
