Temporary Disability Insurance for pregnancy/childbirth recovery

Temporary Disability provides cash benefits for pregnant parents when they need to stop working before giving birth and while recovering afterward. Parents can transition directly from Temporary Disability to bonding benefits, also known as Family Leave Insurance. Learn more at myleavebenefits.nj.gov/maternity.

Covered employers and employees

Most employers must participate in the State Temporary Disability Insurance plan and deduct your payroll taxes for it or provide a private plan. The federal government is exempt, and it is optional for local governments (for example counties, municipalities and school districts). Generally, employees who work a significant amount of time outside of New Jersey are not covered but are encouraged to apply to find out if they are eligible. Your employer's private plan is with Equitable. Contact us with any questions regarding your coverage.

You are covered under a private plan. Your insurance carrier, Equitable Financial Life Insurance Company of America, is responsible for processing and paying benefits on your disability claim. Reach out to Equitable to learn more about your coverage and obtain claim forms.

Job protection

Temporary Disability Insurance is a wage replacement program and does not provide job protection. However, your job may be protected under the federal Family & Medical Leave Act (FMLA), which is a separate law enforced by the U.S. Department of Labor. Generally, employers with at least 50 employees are covered under FMLA and must provide up to 12 weeks of job-protected, unpaid medical leave. You may need to provide notice to your employer if you're taking leave under this law.

In addition, if an employer retaliates against you for taking or seeking to take Temporary Disability benefits, you have the right to take private legal action.
