

Self-directed brokerage account

Through Equitable Retirement VisionSM, your employees have access to a self-directed brokerage account (SDBA), which offers increased freedom to create an individualized retirement savings strategy.

An SDBA offers a broad range of investment options outside of a traditional retirement plan — such as ETFs, stocks and bonds — allowing participants the flexibility to further diversify their portfolios.

Who is it for?

For employees who consider themselves sophisticated investors.

How does it work?

An SDBA is a brokerage window option available through an unaffiliated third-party brokerage firm. It is designed to give your employees the opportunity to select investments outside of the core offering while remaining in the plan and receiving the associated tax benefits. Offering an SDBA option to employees may enhance your existing benefits package and provide them with greater diversification and control.

SDBA features

- Plan sponsors can choose to limit investment offerings or offer full brokerage services.¹
- SDBAs can include a variety of investment vehicles, such as stocks, bonds, CDs, ETFs and mutual funds.
 - Access to more than 100 nonproprietary, commission-free ETFs and more than 13,000 mutual funds.
 - More than 4,500 mutual funds in the no-load, no transaction fee (NTF) category.

Participant fees

- $80 annual maintenance fee, charged quarterly.²
- Separate fees/commissions applied by the SDBA provider, including, but not limited to, online equity trade fees.

Rules and restrictions

- No direct salary deferrals are permitted into the SDBA. Participants must initiate the transfer.
- $1,000 minimum investment per transfer.
- 50% of the participant's account must be retained in the plan-selected core investments.
